It is the first live-action adaptation of the film series, though the sequels of the first two films (2009's Alvin and the Chipmunks: The Road Chip and 2011's Alvin and the Chipmunks: Chipwrecked) have been produced using computer animation, and are the second and third films in the series to do so. It is also the first live-action film not to have its songs produced using a music licensing company (music licensing being the legal process of making music from a film's soundtrack). The film was released on December 18, 2007, in China and on December 19, 2007, in the United States. It was the first and only Alvin and the Chipmunks film to be released in the United States by 20th Century Fox and the only film in the franchise to do so. To date, the film has grossed $5,078,917 in the United States and Canada and $21,931,365 internationally, for a total of $26,919,292 worldwide. The film features an ensemble cast which includes Jason Lee, James Belushi, John Lithgow, Ashley Tisdale, John Goodman, David Cross, Jane Krakowski, David Yow, and Kaley Cuoco. Plot Alvin, Simon, and Theodore have just made their television debut on The Chipettes' Hit List. They are tired, and thus Alvin offers to babysit for Theodore while the Chipettes go out to get food for their day at the mall. Alvin, Theodore, and the Chipettes go to the popular restaurant "Plutus" to meet Bonnie the biker bar-girl. They get into a fight with a group of evil biker gang members led by the menacing Bossman. Alvin stops the fight, and they escape. At the mall, the Chipettes are mad at Alvin for taking them away from the Hit List, and they are going to report him to their agent, Denise DeMayo. They are stunned to see Simon and Theodore, whom they have never seen before. Alvin decides to take the Chipettes to see Bon-Bon's "Rock the Grill" stage show, in which she takes the Chipettes back to her home in order to be trained by her two sons. He learns that the Chipettes are his biological children, and that Simon and Theodore are their adopted sons. The Chipettes feel sorry for Alvin, and stop insulting him. After the show 82157476af
